FARM STRIKE CALLED TODAY MAY HIT SNAG

Defections Reported in Groups in Some States; Leader Optimistic.

PREDICTS LONG BATTLE

Washington To Speed Crop Loans and Mortgaging Refinancing.

By The Associated Press

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 21—The farm strike called for today ran into a snag, Milo Reno, leader of the agricultural holiday said today.

"Some of the boys," he said, "are rocking the boat. I have received many divergent opinions from those who say they are holding members. I don't believe some defections are. The holiday association is behind the national strike wholeheartedly."

Despite this and despite the completeness of plans, Reno, president of the National Farmers' Holiday association, sponsor of the movement said the movement would be carried through. He predicted a long drawn out battle.

He declined to name the states or persons to whom he referred except to say he didn't believe "all these statements which he read in news dispatches about the state groups not coming in." He did say, however, there appeared to be dissension in some of the state organizations.

Plan Speedy Loans

Members of the national cabinet at Washington discussed crop loans for farmers and speeding up of mortgage refinancing. A meeting to which farm representatives were invited was set for Tuesday.

Farm bureau officials pleaded for further consideration of the administration plans for relief through crop control. Milk producers in Wisconsin indicated their intention of joining in the holiday movement.

The cooperation of the Farmers' union was extended by a national officer, and a Nebraska unit telegraphed President Roosevelt to declare an embargo on importation of all farm and manufactured food products.

Criticism of the "blue eagle" entered the picture with the view that the NRA had assisted in hoisting industrial prices but had left farm prices unaided.

Price Climb Halts

A national survey showed the upward sweep of prices farmers pay had been halted when the bureau of agricultural economics revealed its newest weekly index of prices.

The official declaration of the national embargo will come in the form of a proclamation from Reno.

Reno said the origin of the strike plan with its double-barreled objective of raising farm prices and obtaining cost-of-production for producers to the "militancy of the holiday organization. This same attribute, he said, will aid the farmer in accomplishing his purpose through peaceful withholding of his produce from the markets.

Meanwhile, in other states, de-

CHANGES IN POLICE PENSIONS PROPOSED

More Rigid Medical Examinations One of Points Discussed at Meeting.

Possible changes in the constitution and by-laws governing pensions in the police department were informally discussed last night at a meeting of the police pension board and the city civil service commission in the city council chamber.

Fred Scherff, chairman of the pension board, said the discussion's aim was to get the opinion of the civil service commission on the proposed changes, which will come before the board's monthly meeting, Nov. 1.

Some of the changes contemplated, he said, would require more physical examinations for new members of the force to prevent members from joining the force with ailments which might cause early retirement necessitating.

Attending the meeting were Police Night Police Capt. E. C. Hoffman and Patrolman A. W. McClure, members of the pension board; W. N. Harder, chairman of the civil service commission, and G. E. Hoffman, C. C. Caldwell, members, Joseph Carhart, secretary; Ralph Crowl and Hayes L. Wolfe, representing city council on the pension board, and Ray Bowers, board member selected by the police.

SCHOOLS LOWER DEBT ON BONDS

Only Seven of 14 Districts Still Owe on Cost of New Buildings.

MORRAL TOTAL IS LOW

Boards Retiring Securities Sold To Finance Centralized Systems.

Another step in the reduction of the bonded indebtedness of Marion County schools has been taken with the payment of $1,500 in bonds by the Morral school board, D. T. Mills, county superintendent, announced today, following a meeting of the board last night.

Only $1,000 is yet owed by the Morral school district, Mills said, and will be retired next March, bringing the district out of debt. The majority of the bonds were for building debts under the centralized school system.

The county schools as a whole are nearing the final payoff of debts on buildings erected when the centralization was adopted, Mr. Mills said. Including Morral, only seven school districts out of fourteen in the county yet have bonded indebtedness, he said. The other districts have recently wiped out their debts, bringing their finances into conditions much better than the average over the state.

Bonds paid off by the Morral school board were a $1,000 bond on the building debt and a $500 bond for repairs to the heating plant. The $1,000 bond due in March, Mills said, will be the last payment on the building debt.

Board members and Mr. Mills also made arrangements last night aiming a nine-month school term. All the schools in the county are anticipating nine-month terms unless the 10-mill real estate limitation is passed, which would further cripple school finances, he said.

Teachers have been hired for nine-month terms although their salaries have been reduced to approximately eight-month levels. Cuts ranging as high as 41 per cent of last year's salaries are now in effect in the salaries of teachers and superintendents, Mills said.

OHIO AUTOISTS ARE TARGET OF GUNMEN

Mansfield Party Escapes Death When Fired On in Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 21—Four motorists from Mansfield, O., narrowly escaped death today when robbers fired bullets through their automobile tires and sent the car crashing into a culvert.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Rubino, Mrs. Clara Hoell and Wade Urich, of the Ohio city were driving toward Chicago when a quartet of robbers tried to force their car to the curb on the Lincoln highway, south of the city.

Instead of halting, Mrs. Rubino stepped on the accelerator and spurted forward. The gunmen sent a volley of shot after them, puncturing the tire and causing the Rubino car to swerve against a concrete culvert. The robbers apparently thinking they had shot the driver, sped past the wrecked automobile and disappeared.

None of the Ohio travelers was hurt seriously, suffering only a shakeup and bruises. They decided to go home without seeing the World's fair.

IMPROVEMENT OF PROSPECT PIKE PROPOSED

Widening and Resurfacing of Two-Mile Stretch on Public Works List.

FEDERAL OK NECESSARY

Project is Second Marion County Job Planned by Highway Department.

A $36,000 project of widening and resurfacing a stretch of nearly two miles of the Prospect pike from a point two miles south of Marion was one of a list of improvements submitted to the federal highway engineer by the state highway department today for inclusion in the national recovery act grants, according to The Associated Press.

The project provides for the widening of the pavement and resurfacing with bituminous material of the Prospect pike, state route 4, from a point two miles south of Marion and extending south 1.935 miles. Other public works projects scheduled in this county include a new bridge at Newman's and resurfacing of North Main street from George street to Copeland avenue and widening and resurfacing North Main street from the corporation limits north to the junction of the Bucyrus and Upper Sandusky pikes.

Contracts for the projects will be awarded as soon as federal approval is obtained, the dispatch said.

Other projects submitted today included the following:

A $20,000 resurfacing job and new bridge at Delphos on U. S. route 30 and U. S. route 30 N in Allen and Van Wert counties; concrete widening of Park avenue in Mansfield on U. S. route 30 and repaving of Main street in Mansfield on state route 13 at a cost of $23,400; concrete gutters and resurfacing of state route 13 on Sandusky street in Mt. Vernon at a cost of $22,000.

OHIO WILL JOIN IN LIQUOR CONFERENCE

Gov. White Approves Conference To Discuss System of Control.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 21—Ohio will join four other states in a conference to discuss uniform liquor control legislation in the event of repeal.

Governor White and his advisory commission have approved the proposal. It was the only definite action taken at a meeting for a preliminary discussion on necessary state legislation yesterday. Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin will be represented at the parely, to be held in Detroit.

No other conclusions were reached but it was reported the advisory group leaned toward a licensing system rather than a state monopoly of liquor trade.

Meantime, Governor White said he would not issue blanket pardons to liquor law violators, but would weigh each case in which pardons were sought, if repeal is enacted.

On the heels of those announcements came rulings for the state liquor control commission, busied with regulating beer trade, that brewers and distributors must not advertise on the behalf of retailers nor will they be allowed to install beer dispensing equipment or accessories.

"No form of advertising," the commission ordered, "either major or minor will be permitted." Revocation of permits will be the penalty.

Among those whose permits were returned after being suspended was Adam Turansky, Canton. To Bert Hanko of Lorain, the commission promised it would restore a suspended permit if inspectors approved his restaurant and one Nehman Isaac were no longer to have any connection with the place.

PRESIDENT WILL BE AWARDED DEGREE

By The Associated Press

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Oct. 21—President Roosevelt anchored off shore from this old colonial town today, where he has traveled to visit the school George Washington helped found—Washington college.

The college was in gala array to give the President an honorary degree of doctor of laws at ceremonies just before noon. Just 144 years ago this school on the eastern shore of Maryland gave George Washington this degree and a photographic facsimile of it was prepared for Mr. Roosevelt.

386 Marion Co. Farmers Agree To Wheat Crop Cut

Forty-Three Per Cent of Growers To Cooperate With Federal Reduction Program.

Three hundred eighty-six wheat farmers in Marion county signed applications under the government's wheat reduction program, giving the county 43 per cent compliance with the program, R. H. Gilbert, emergency agricultural agent for the county, reported today.

Winding up a three-month campaign here, Gilbert expressed satisfaction with the county's response, which exceeds the state average of 35 per cent.

A total of 9,526 acres are represented by applications turned in, Gilbert said. The farmers agree to keep 15 per cent of the total out of production next year, or 1,459 acres.

Payments at the rate of 30 cents a bushel this fall will total $20,780, Gilbert said, while a final payment of about eight cents a bushel will be sent next spring.

Out of 1,881 farms in Marion county, Gilbert said wheat is grown on 924 of them. Of these 924 farms, he said, 386 were signed with the program.

Besides finishing with a high ranking percentage, Gilbert said Marion county compared favorably with other counties in the state in the speed with which the program was put through.

First Checks Soon

Work of completing the applications and forwarding of contracts to Washington, D. C., is now being completed. Checks for the first payments on reduction allotments will be sent, Gilbert predicted, between Thanksgiving and Christmas and will be distributed to the farmers through the Marion County Wheat Production Control committee.

Gilbert's work here on the wheat program will be concluded sometime in November, he said.

Reports for Ohio show 23,411 farmers signed up under the reduction program, representing 500,000 acres. Two counties which topped Marion county's percentage are Pickaway county, with about 68 per cent and Seneca county, with about 60 per cent. Through the western states, Gilbert said about 90 per cent of the wheat farmers signed contracts to reduce acreage.

Gilbert reminded wheat farmers that their estimated average production per acre for the last three years should not be too far out of

Church Born in 1833 To Celebrate

Bucyrus Presbyterians To Open Observance of Founding.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 21 — One hundred years ago this week the strains of religious hymns echoed through a vari-colored forest penetrating the Sabbath silence of a hamlet that had just begun to take its place in rural Ohio. It was music from a small band of worshipers who had gathered under the improvised roof of an early cabin.

They were Presbyterians who had found time to lay aside the toil of six previous day to carry on in a new world the teachings which had been brought to Bucyrus from eastern settlements.

Tomorrow, Sunday, the Presbyterian church, now one of the leading churches of the city, begins observance of the passing of the one hundredth year since Presbyterianism was begun here by those early believers.

Dinner Planned

The celebration will be marked by a full weeks program concluding Sunday, Oct. 29. During this time all living former pastors will have some part in the services.

A fellowship dinner, Thursday evening, in the church parlors, will be a leading feature of the celebration.

In recognition of the passing of the first century, James R. Hopley, former state senator, has compiled a complete history of the church from its inception until this year. A booklet designed to perpetually keep the history will be made from Mr. Hopley's manuscript.

There were Presbyterians in Bucyrus almost from the arrival of the first settlers in 1819, the sect meeting regularly in the homes of its members. The first minister of the Presbytery whose Christian name was never recorded was Rev. William Matthews, a pioneer who took his salary in dressed hides in the value of $60 a year while preaching in four stations in the section.

Services in Cabins

After Rev. Matthews came Rev. Bacon and Rev. Jacob Hooper who held their services in the settlers' cabins and under a large oak tree which stood where the Pennsyl-

SEVEN ARE CHARGED IN SHERIFF'S DEATH

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., Oct. 21—First degree murder charges have been filed against seven men in connection with the slaying of Sheriff Jess Sarber of Allen county, who was shot down at the jail when three gunmen liberated John L. Dillinger, alleged bank robber. Besides Dillinger, the accused are Harry Pierpont, alleged to have fired the fatal shot; Harry Copeland, Russell Clark, Edward Shouse, Charles Makely and John Hamilton. All except Dillinger are convicts who escaped from the Michigan City, Ind., prison.

GUNMEN TAKE ARMS IN POLICE STATION RAID

Two Men Hold Up Officers, Flee With Rifles, Pistols and Bullet-Proof Vests.

BLAME ESCAPED CONVICTS

Peru, Ind., Scene of Attack; Men Believed Involved in Lima Slaying.

PERU, Ind., Oct. 21—The second raid within a week on an Indiana city police station, placed in the hands of gunmen today most of the armament of the Peru police force.

Two men armed with a submachine gun and a sawed off shotgun, herded three Peru officers into the basement of the station late last night, and escaped with guns, revolvers, badges and nine bullet-proof vests.

At the Auburn, Ind., police station last Saturday night three gunmen obtained a machine gun, rifles and a number of revolvers.

One of the men who confronted the three patrolmen, told them "I haven't killed anyone for a week and I ought to shoot you." No shots were fired.

Identifications Conflict

Conflicting identifications were made. Deputy Sheriff Robert Killett, who saw the men drive away with a companion, said they resembled Charles Mackley, one of 10 convicts who escaped from Indiana state prison, Sept. 26, and Harry Copeland, on parole from the prison. Mackley and Cupeland face murder warrants in connection with last week's raid on the Lima, O., jail where Sheriff Jess Sarber was killed as several men released John Dillinger, alleged bank robber.

Leo (Red) Eakins, 53, night cook at a nearby restaurant who entered the police station and was lined up with the officers, said he believed the men were Harry Pierpont and Joseph Fox, two of the fugitive convicts.

The officers said they were unable to identify the invading gunmen, but said they believed the men may have been two of a group of four who aroused suspicions of local police, Oct. 11, but sped away toward Kokomo when they were approached.

Police at Indianapolis believed the automobile used here was the car in which they said Dillinger and Copeland were seen riding prior to the $21,000 Liberty of an Indianapolis bank several weeks ago.

Eakins said as he walked in the station door, one of the gunmen told him, "Come on back in the chief's office. I've got something I want to show you." He followed and was lined up with the policemen.

Guns Carried to Car

One of the raiders was engaged in removing guns from a case in the front of the station and placing them in a blanket on the floor. Three trips were made in transferring the armament to the automobile outside, before the men fled.

Mackley and Copeland were named yesterday, with four other former Indiana convicts, in murder warrants sworn out by Prosecutor E. M. Botkin of Allen county, O., as suspects in the slaying of Sheriff Sarber. Pierpont was one of the others listed, along with Russell Clark, Edward Shouse and John Hamilton.

Dillinger was awaiting trial on a bank robbery charge at Lima after his arrest in Dayton, O., at the home of a relative of James Jenkins, another of the Indiana convicts who later was killed at Deanblossom, Ind. Maps found at the Dayton house led Captain Matt Leach of the Indiana police to express belief the break of the ten prisoners at Michigan City may have been plotted there.

FORMER LOCAL MAN HEADS CHURCH SYNOD

Rev. R. J. Loew of Wapakoneta Elected at Evangelical Meeting.

Rev. R. J. Loew of Wapakoneta, former pastor in Marion, was elected president of the West Ohio Region of the Ohio district of the Evangelical Synod of North America, at the closing session of the fifth annual conference yesterday afternoon at Salem church here. Rev. Loew succeeds Rev. Theodore G. Papedorf of New Bremen.

St. Peter's church in New Bremen was selected as the place for the 1934 meeting some time in October. Other officers elected were Rev. A. J. A. Wahl of Chattanooga, vice president; Miss Alice Gerlach of Kenton, secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Hoblet of Chattanooga, treasurer.

The merger of the Evangelical Synod and the Reformed Church in the United States, which was effected at a recent general conference in Cincinnati, was discussed by Rev. H. Pfeiffer of Sandusky, Ohio district president, in his report on the conference.

Rev. Pfeiffer said that the process of actually merging the two denominations would be a gradual process requiring a period of time, and that the final success would depend on the cooperation of the local congregations.

The afternoon was devoted to discussion and reports of conference committees.

Efforts of All Groups Coordinated by C. of C.

Merchant and Business Man Given Advantage of Collective Endeavor for Civic Betterment.

This is the fifth and final article in a series telling some of the accomplishments and aims of the Chamber of Commerce, which will begin a citywide membership drive next Tuesday.

BY BOB BYRD
Marion Star Staff Writer

The man who tried to lift himself by his bootstraps was quite an optimist.

Whether he was more of an optimist than the businessman or industrial head who, single-handed, attempted to make his voice heard in industrial, public, civic and business affairs is a question raised by officials of the Chamber of Commerce, who next week will conduct an intensive membership drive.

Through this drive, the Chamber hopes to band the industrial and business interests of Marion into an organization that will be able to speak effectively for the entire city. The Chamber's success in this effort will depend, principally, upon three factors, they said.

To speak for Marion, the Chamber must be truly representative of the city—it should have members from all business and industrial concerns in the city. Second, the Chamber must be adequately financed if its program of service in the different fields in which it is active is to be carried out. Third, it must

RUSSIA HAILS U.S. AGREEMENT

Sees Roosevelt Invitation as Boon To Better Trade Relations.

TO RUSH NEGOTIATIONS

Soviet Will Send Representative To America Within Short Time.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Oct. 21—Russia hailed as a boon to world peace and to better trade relations today its agreement with the United States to negotiate concerning American recognition of the Soviet union.

Events moved swiftly after President Mikhail Kalinin announced he had accepted an invitation from President Roosevelt, dated Oct. 10, and added he would send Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff to Washington to represent the U. S. S. R.

To Send Representative

Plans were rushed for Litvinoff to depart for the United States within a very few days. Government officials gathered to consider the points around which the Washington conversations should be centered.

"President Roosevelt's action can only serve the cause of world peace and encourage friends of peace in the whole world," a foreign office spokesman exclaimed.

As the developments were greeted with cheer and enthusiasm throughout the union, leaders indicated Russia hopes for a three-fold result from the resumption of official relations, namely:

Greatly increased credit facilities; the lifting of American barriers against some of its goods, and a strengthening of its position in the far east as regards Russo-Japanese relations.

Seeks Certain Terms

Russia, believing that the world economic situation has worked it into a position to bargain with the United States in its bid for trade, is expected to ask that the United States meet two terms if trade between the countries is restored to a big scale basis.

These are sufficient credits with which to make purchases in America, and removal of U. S. restrictions against Soviet goods.

Russia claims it does not enjoy equality with other countries in access to the American market because of what it terms discriminatory restrictions set on articles produced by enforced labor.

Helpful Fishing

(Will Rogers Special)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 21—Flew in here yesterday with Vice President Garner and Mr. Farley. And there is something that you ought to come all the way to San Antonio to see—that's Randolph Flying Field—the finest field in the world and the prettiest laid out thing in America.

Then there's Kelly Field. Our salvation in the next war comes out of this unique little city.

Flying on down to Garner's home at Uvalde where for 30 years he represented them in Congress, and the prairie dogs all voted for him.

Where other vice presidents have done nothing but make speeches, Garner just fishes. If all politicians fished instead of spoke publicly, we would be at peace with the world.

U. S. DERIVING HUGE REVENUE FROM BEER

Treasury Figures Indicate Yearly Tax Collections of 150 Millions.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 Beer drinkers are helping support the government at a $150,000,000-a-year rate.

That's what treasury figures indicate on the basis of six months of the legal 3.2 beverage. Exactly $74,944,483 was collected in beer taxes, $6,164,967 more in special levies on brewers and distributors and $105,121 on 3.2 wine.

In making public the half-year beer returns, officials withheld any forecast of what effect repeal, if realized, may have on strictly beer revenue.

The treasury figures put internal revenue collections for the first quarter of the 1934 fiscal year (July 1 to Sept. 30) at $613,258,977 a $255,150,912 increase over this quarter a year ago.

TRADE BOOM EXPECTED BY GOVERNMENT

Soviets Plan To Rush Representative for Conferences With President.

ROOSEVELT PAVES WAY

Some Opposition from Congress Seen; Organizations Oppose Plan.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 Speedy recognition of Soviet Russia with a resultant boom in Russo-American trade, was forecast authoritatively today close upon the receipt of word that the communist state intends literally to rush its representative to the White House.

In an informed but unofficial quarter it was stated Maxim Litvinoff, the stocky out-spoken Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, probably would sit down with President Roosevelt "in about two weeks."

Litvinoff, by employing fast boats and trains, could make the trip from Moscow in around 10 days.

The whirl of preparations set off by the President when he read to newsmen his letter to Mikhail Kalinin, president of the Soviet central executive committee, that the time had come to "end the present abnormal relations" between the two countries, today brought a generally favorable reaction within the capital.

Trade Spurt Seen

Some officials expressed the opinion that should the Roosevelt-Litvinoff conversations solve the difficulties in the path of recognition, a trade spurt passing beyond the $100,000,000 mark could be expected.

The chief executive himself warned his letter to Kalinin did not in itself constitute recognition, but from within his administration came authoritative indication that this result could be expected in about a month.

Talk progressed so far that there was speculation today that Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration, would be prominent among those considered as an ambassador to the Soviet state, if and when problems between the two nations were solved.

Morgenthau was designated some time ago to take a hand in all trade matters and inquiries concerning the Soviet, and close friends believe he would welcome such a post if offered.

It appeared certain today that some opposition to the President's move toward recognition would arise on Capitol Hill when congress reconvenes. The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion already have expressed their opposition. There was little indication, however, that sufficient strength could be mustered in the senate to defeat confirmation of an ambassador should the President have occasion to name one.

Credits Sought

Behind the private prediction of officials that exports of beyond $100,000,000 to Russia might be expected should recognition be granted, lay the sound foundation

PRICE FIXING FACES BAN BY GOVERNMENT

Roosevelt Shelves Proposal Blamed for Much of NRA Dissension.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 — Proposals for government sanction of a minimum price margin to retail stores face almost certain rejection by the administration.

Authoritative officials say President Roosevelt definitely has shelved the plan to prohibit, in a master code, retail sales at prices below invoice cost plus 10 per cent. To what extent the NRA may go in banning price slashes as unfair competition is up to Mr. Roosevelt.

The price mark-up issue provided one of the few open differences between the farm and NRA administrations. Secretary Wallace assailed this recommendation of the retail industry and his views are said to have prevailed.

Involved in the question are differences between farm prices and industrial prices, one of the focal points of anti-NRA agitation in western farm sections.

This dissension, Hugh S. Johnson believes, "will vanish when everything is in full swing." In "everything," the NRA administration included farm adjustment efforts and the public program.

SPEEDY RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA IS SEEN

of negotiations already far advanced between the Amtorg Russian trading company and the Reconstruction corporation for credits of more than $50,000,000

The credits, which almost assuredly would be arranged in the event of recognition, would account for the purchase of 1,000,000 bales of cotton in addition to sizeable purchases of machinery

Officials have seen in Russia a ready market for rail equipment as well as mill machinery Farm administration experts are known to believe that Russia would take 2,000,000 bales of cotton annually if conditions were propitious

President Roosevelt's warning that his invitation did not automatically signify recognition and the prediction of some state department officials that results could hardly be expected within a month were based upon the complexity of the questions to be discussed between the chief executive and Litvinoff.

Still Owes U. S.

Among the obligations charged against Russia by this country are a $187,000,000 war time loan to the Kerensky government, which was overthrown by the forces which formed the present Soviet state, and $86,000,000 in private flotations to the czarist regime.

In addition the forces overthrowing Kerensky confiscated property estimated roughly at $300,000,000 in principle

Against these figures officials here believe Litvinoff will recall the Russian claim of several hundred million dollars against the United States for alleged destruction of property during the Archangel and Siberian expeditions after the close of the World war.

In addition to these considerations and trade relations, another point which undoubtedly will be insisted upon by the President will center upon a communist anti-propaganda guarantee.

Although some capitol hill quarters have given warning of opposition to any recognition move on the ground that it would increase communist propaganda, some administration quarters have indicated this should not prove a major obstacle in the conversations

The feeling expressed privately by several executive sources has been that communists had demonstrated their inability to appeal to any great mass of people in this country, and that Russia's sensing this condition, had abandoned any concentrated propaganda campaign. In these circles it was felt that little difficulty would be encountered in obtaining assurances against any wide propaganda campaign.

Hepner quoted a recent statement by President Roosevelt as evidence that the work of the Red Cross has the whole hearted endorsement of the federal government. At the last annual convention of the Red Cross, President Roosevelt expressed his "deep interest in the work the Red Cross is doing" and assured the delegates that he can be "counted on to foster and aid in every way in my power the great work your organization must carry on."

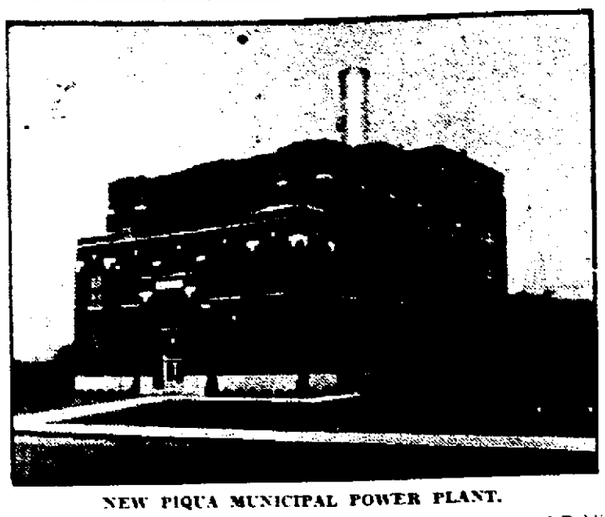
Another official, Harry L. Piqua To Dedicate Municipal Plant in 3-Day Celebration



NEW PIQUA MUNICIPAL POWER PLANT.

Special to The Star

PIQUA, O., Oct. 21—Citizens of this flourishing Miami Valley community of some 16,000 population, who four years ago eliminated politics in city government by replacing the old federal form of government with a commission-manager charter rule, are preparing to celebrate their first outstanding accomplishment of the new government—the completion of a municipal light and power plant.

To this end a great three-day celebration will be staged Oct. 25-26-27 featuring elaborate light plant dedication ceremonies, a mammoth NRA parade, a Hallowe'en celebration with masked parade, fireworks and half a dozen or more incidental features in addition. Completion of the splendid power plant and distribution system now in operation marks the end of a bitter two-year fight.

Vote Was Two to One

Safe in their knowledge that the people of the city had voted two to one in favor of the light plant project and approving an $810,000 light plant bond issue at the polls two years ago members of the city commission led by an unwavering determination of City Manager L. G. Whitney and Director of Public Works J. M. Montgomery fought and overcome all oppents for two long and trying years.

The plant, a model of modern equipment and efficiency is now finished and in operation with services being supplied to local residential, business and industrial consumers as rapidly as they can be installed. Total cost of the completed plant is approximately $700,000 as compared with the $810,000 estimate. Two year notes of the City of Piqua were issued and sold to provide the money to build the plant with these to be taken up by bonds to be advertised for sale next month.

Confident About Finances

City officials however are confident the plant will more than pay for itself out of earned revenue.

Piqua now owns and operates two utilities, water and electricity. The city has been successfully operating a modern water softening and pumping plant for 10 years since it was built and only this week announced a water rate reduction.

Posters Condemned

A SERMONETTE

BY REV S F PORTER.
Pastor, Emmanuel Baptist Church

DEAR READER Here on my desk before me is a sermonette that I have just finished and discarded, because I was convicted that in it I was attempting to dodge the real message that my Lord would have me bring to you Believe me when I say it is not always easy to rebuke sin openly and stand for righteousness and virtue But when I fail to warn the wicked of his wickedness, and the sinful of their sins, I am no longer fit to be called a preacher of the gospel of Jesus Christ Thus by Gods grace I now deliver to you the message I am constrained to give

Several weeks ago on a Saturday afternoon I had an errand that took me uptown When I returned home I was in bitterness of soul I went to bed and rolled and tossed until past 2 o clock Sunday morning Then I found peace before my Lord when I pledged myself to bring you this message

My friend, do you think God is blind? Is not the eye of God in every place beholding the evil and the good? Thus saith the Lord, 'I see your bill boards and your window posters with their filthy and lewd display of feminine nakedness I know thy disgraceful works which beat fruit of fornication and adultery. They are altogether fleshy, rotten and de[illegible] odor is that of [illegible]

Thy billboards [illegible] thy window [illegible] Gomorrha [illegible] with an eternal [illegible] hast dis[illegible] and thy fathers [illegible] them up [illegible] spewing [illegible] beyond word [illegible] before the child [illegible] of his parent, and [illegible] innocent child as [illegible] her playmates [illegible] display and disgrace [illegible] the mother that bear [illegible] more shall say unto you [illegible] is nothing too low [illegible]

God looks at the [illegible] smile at them filth, the [illegible] heads and wink [illegible] then lustfull eyes and [illegible] corrupt souls How [illegible] the stink continue? Who [illegible] out officials he [illegible] Has public sentiment [illegible] toxicated with sex appeal [illegible] has become of the voice of [illegible] churches? Harken oh [illegible] men God has appointed a day of judgment Let us pray

'Oh my God behold I [illegible] declared thy word Now for Jesus sake raise up a man [illegible] will cleanse our city of this [illegible] moralizing degrading filth [illegible] keep it clean Convict by [illegible] Spirit of judgment all that are implicated in this wicked practice and spare us from thy wrath by thy great mercy oh my Lord and Saviour Amen

Women Who "Prayed Out" Saloons Undismayed by Rise of Repeal Tide

Survivors of Famous Ohio Crusaders Loyal To Prohibition.

By The Associated Press

HILLSBORO O Oct 21—To the survivors of that praying band of 70 women who nurtured the organized temperance movement here in 1873 national prohibition is not a failure despite the march of repeal

There are seven of them five here and two in California

They're Not Dismayed

Those who can see from their front porches the scene of their conquest of liquor are Mrs Leander Detwiler, Mrs Eliza West Mrs Kate Doggett Mrs Levina Jones and Mrs Elizabeth Marsnall On the other side of the continent are Mrs Robert Duffey and Mrs Lida Pickering

The praying bands gave the Women's Christian Temperance Union which came upon the scene a year later its anthem

Leave to the winds thy fears,
Hope and be not dismayed—
Dry thine eyes, thy sighs and counts of tears,
God will lift up thy head

Undismayed Mrs Detwiler conceded that however much prohibition might be criticized it has not been as bad as the days of the open saloon As to charges that speakeasies have supplanted the saloons of the pre prohibition era Mrs West observes

You cant stop people from drinking if they want to

Recall Old Campaigns

Whatever Ohios note Nov 7 will be, whatever the result in the nation those women do not easily forget the wintry days of 1873 when with prayer and hymn they besieged Hillsboros 13 saloons four hotel bars and four drug stores where whisky was sold over prescription counters.

Only by one the bars were virtually forced out of existence in a campaign in which the women would march from church to the saloon there to kneel on the sawdust floor, praying and singing hymns and pleading with the saloon keeper to sign pledges and to destroy his stock.

Spurred Local Option

As some times happened they were refused admittance they knelt on the sidewalks outside

The movement, spreading to Ohio, is credited with having given a strong impulse to local option and other regulatory legislation as to the founding of the Women's Christian Temperance

Fighting for temperance in the Hillsboro, O., of 1873 meant praying before saloons and appealing to proprietors to close up shop Mrs [illegible] West Mrs Leander Detwiler and Mrs Kate Doggett [illegible] right) are three of the seven survivors of the original "praying band of 70 The old photograph above shows a campaign in progress before the door of one of the towns emporiums

The Woman Healed on the Sabbath

Luke 13 10-21

10 And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath

11 And behold there was a woman which had a spirit of an infirmity eighteen years and was bowed together and could in no wise lift herself

12 And when Jesus saw her He called her to Him and said unto her Woman thou art loosed from thine infirmity

13 And He laid his hands on her and immediately she was made straight and glorified God

14 And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation because that Jesus had healed on the Sabbath day and said unto the people There are six days in which to work in them therefore come and be healed and not on the Sabbath day

15 The Lord then answered him and said Thou hypocrite doth not each one of you loose his ox or his ass from the stall and lead him away to watering?

16 And ought not this woman being a daughter of Abraham whom Satan hath bound lo, these eighteen years be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when He had said these things all His adversaries were ashamed and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by Him

18 Then said He Unto what is the kingdom of God like? and whereunto shall I resemble it?

19 It is like a grain of mustard seed, which a man took and cast into his garden and it grew and waxed a great tree and the fowls of the air lodged in the branches of it

20 And again He said Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God?

21 It is like leaven which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened

THE healing of a woman, who had an infirmity of long standing, is told only in the Gospel of Luke, the one gospel in which so many stories are related concerning women.

Jesus is back where the Holy Dove descended on Him at His baptism. He is preaching to a multitude, some of whom are fanatics on the interpretation of certain laws. One of these laws had to do with working on the Sabbath (Ex. 20:9) they wondered just what constituted work. Today the rabbi has taken exception to His healing the infirm woman.

In His usual way of teaching, just as though they were all children, He makes comparisons of objects that they have to do with every day, even the Sabbath. He is here to establish a Kingdom for His Father; this Kingdom is to be like the mustard seed that grows into a tree and shelters all who come to it, or like the leaven, growing and making all that come near like it.

Jesus showed by this healing of the aged woman, that an act of mercy can never desecrate the Lord's day.

The First Loan.

The home loan service of the federal government has begun actual operations here with completion of the first mortgage transaction. The government agency took over a $2,700 loan on a Marion residence property just in time to save it from going under the hammer at a sheriff's auction.

That's only a drop in the huge bucket of home owners' indebtedness here, but it is important and encouraging despite its comparative insignificant measurement. Here was one family relieved of worry over the prospect of losing possibly its most valuable possession, and there are prospects of many more having the same joyous experience.

Marion county, along with all other communities throughout the land, will watch developments in this new government service, with hope that its operations will be sufficiently extensive to yield widespread benefits.

This first definite development in Marion county indicates that the chief beneficiaries will be persons of limited means, to whom ownership of a home constitutes their major resource. If that program is carried through on a large scale, the Home Owners' Loan corporation will go down in history as one of the most beneficient agencies sponsored by federal authority.

Maryland Breaks Out.

To Maryland goes the distinction of adding at least one to the total of lynchings which will mark America's reversion to barbarism in the year 1933. Last year, 10 Negroes met death at the hands of mobs. No one can say how many there will be this year.

The alleged offense in the case of George Armwood, 28, latest victim, was attacking a white woman, Mrs. Mary Denston, 71 years old. This charge appears in every year's list of lynchings. Rarely, however, is there such a disparity in the ages of the principals.

Armwood was being detained in the Somerset county jail. He had been there since last Monday night. Wednesday night a mob broke down the jail doors with timbers, abducted the prisoner, dragged him through the streets behind an automobile and finally hanged him near the residence of a local police judge.

Five state police were injured in the attempt to turn back the mob. The sheriff of Somerset county, appearing after the mob had started to break down the jail doors, sought vainly to uphold the dignity of his office. The police judge begged the mob to turn back, but to no avail.

It is the same story that has been told dozens of times previously, but only in the retelling does the utter barbarism of the details emerge fully. Human beings have labored for centuries to establish courts and systems of trial to protect helpless individuals from the vengeance of mobs, because of the obvious danger of letting the charge instead of the conviction determine punishment. Every outbreak of lynch law is a sign that there are forces pulling backward on civilization that must be overcome before anyone dares claim attainment of the goal.

Improvement.

The secretary of labor's report for September may be matched with virtually any disparaging comment on improvement, with good results. It gives the most important facts of recovery—employment totals and wage totals.

During September, more than 620,000 workers were reemployed. The gain in weekly wages was nearly $64,000,000. Employment reached the level it occupied in the fall of 1931; wages reached the level of spring of the same year.

A fact frequently forgotten when such reports are consulted is their nature as indicators. The labor secretary's figures, for instance do not represent the absolute gain in employment and wages. Industries submitting information normally employ less than half of the country's workers.

Thousands found jobs which weren't reported. Millions of dollars in wages were paid without any record. Thus, instead of representing the maximum of improvement, the report can do no more than show the direction of the main body of improvement.

The secretary of labor attributes the increases to two factors. First, seasonal in-

The Council of 100.

The fate of Marion's Council of 100, whether it is to be maintained or permitted to pass on as a "noble experiment," will be decided by a vote of the members. That procedure was agreed upon at a meeting of a part of the membership.

Whatever the outcome of the vote may be, the Council of 100 will go down in Marion history as a project founded upon one of the finest programs for community service ever conceived. It has been, in fact, essentially an experiment, certainly a noble one, and by no means impractical. It is practical, if backed by whole-hearted and sincere effort. Any proposal is theoretical and experimental in its conception and remains so until the will to carry it through to effective operation is exercised.

Some directly connected with the Council of 100 have said its program actually was too extensive and comprehensive, that there was not sufficient concentration of aims and effort. If so, that could be easily remedied. Probably there were other features which needed correcting. It would be surprising and unprecedented if a new and untried undertaking of that magnitude were ever inaugurated and maintained without the necessity of change.

If the Council of 100, by a vote of its own members, is erased from the community picture, we believe this will not mean eradication of the influence it created toward community progress and improvement. Neither is it necessary that the program of service outlined for the organization be discarded. It is worth preserving and should be preserved for use by other civic groups in case the Council's existance ends.

An immense amount of constructive organization work was done during the months that the Council functioned, much of it the result of tireless and unselfish effort by the chairman, Dr. Sawyer. If the Council is to pass on, the fruits of this endeavor should be a valuable contribution to the Chamber of Commerce and other community service organizations in their future activities.

In the meantime, Marion will await the result of the Council of 100 members' vote with interest. Should they cast their ballots for continuance, a pledge of effort to make it a live and aggressive organization should accompany their decision.

In Quest of Knowledge.

Public interest in matters relating to government and business is probably greater now than in many years. People who formerly scanned published reports of important affairs now read carefully and thoughtfully and strive to understand.

In Marion now, two groups are engaged in a study of such subjects. At the high school building 30 or more persons are enrolled in the Ohio State university extension course in which facts are being learned about banking and money. It would be better if the number of students were several times 30. It would have been exceedingly beneficial, in fact, had classes of this sort, with unlimited enrollment facilities, been conducted a long time before the year 1929 appeared on the calendar.

Another study class is going into the subject of international relations, with the primary purpose of arriving at conclusions essential for promoting peace among nations. It is a part of a national movement sponsored by the national committee on the cause and cure of war, and here is under the direction of Mrs. William N. Harder, prominent Marion club woman who is chairman of the program in Ohio.

This does not seem to be of as much immediate and direct concern to people of Marion as the subject of banking and money, but nevertheless it has a direct bearing upon personal interests here. Memory of the World war and the toll it exacted in Marion county provides proof that international relations are of considerable importance.

M'KINLEY-HANNA-HERRICK CONFERENCE

One Sunday morning early in 1896 Myron T. Herrick drove William McKinley, who was his guest in Cleveland, over to the residence of Mark Hanna. Hanna had been in the east on a presidential prospecting trip. After passing the cigars Hanna turned to McKinley and said, "Well it is all over but the shouting." He proceeded to state that he had found the eastern leaders favorable. McKinley, it being understood that he would ask in return the control of patronage in their territory. McKinley objected by saying, "Mark, some things come too high. If I should accept the nomination on those terms, the place would be worth nothing to me and less to the people. If those are the terms I am out of it." Hanna then explained he merely had repeated what the leaders wanted and assured McKinley they would support him without any agreement. Hanna's forecast proved correct and one by one the eastern bosses came to the McKinley support.

New York Day By Day

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—Purely personal pitfle: Gene Tunney always needs a hair trim at the back. I'm partial to hard-wood floors, but a rug in drafts and can change to chintz when you can't seat a cat. Ogden Nash is best of the light versifiers. Aimee Semple on Broadway has not been exciting in the theatre.

Prediction: Helen Wills will regain her tennis title. I've never heard a movie producer call Al Jolson or Eddie Cantor play. One of my earliest boyhood friends was the famous clown, Harvey's son Tom, who saved me from drowning. Ten fortune tellers have predicted my death by drowning.

The most fabulous story I ever sold was to Hearst's Cosmopolitan. Anybody's dressing gown would make me look like old sacks. Every time I think I'd look swell in a stock, the darndest dog I ever saw was an old hound in the Ozarks. An occasional visitor is Ted Sloan.

I positively use "nice" as a conjunction only when I'm out of ninety. I once argued with a newspaperman who pouted while actually speaking. Cheerful homemade verse can make me laugh out loud. "My little buttercup" talk. Jo Davidson and Rodin strike me as posers.

Walt Disney's "March of the Toys" will be out of a funk. The Galeries Lafayette in Paris are more than the Louvre. I could sit up all night to hear Les Copeland [illegible] on the piano. Twice I have jailed Tombs prison a few minutes after an escape. The worst hot-dog ever eaten was in the original stand in the old part of Frankfort. Two marriages I'm certain were solely for money turned out happily. I find girls with double names such as Georgia May and Nancy Lee full of flibberty-jibberty talk. The only legitimate actress in actual demand this season is Katharine Cornell. I like to motor in a strange city as everybody is going to work. No one carries gloves in the gaudy manner of the late dancer, Maurice.

Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. Officials of the American Federation of Labor have garnered the goods on chiselers against the Blue Eagle in literally thousands of cases.

Local compliance boards are struggling manfully with the situation but so far have failed to hang up many horrible examples for public scorn.

Presumably these public-spirited citizens serving without pay are leery of falsely accusing a next-door neighbor.

One of the flagrant cases reported to the A. F. of L. involves a company manufacturing two-for-a-nickel cigars.

No sooner had the company signed a code than it raised the price of its cabbage to 2 for a dime.

Then they set underpaid girls to working over-time pasting Blue Eagles on the boxes.

Sweating

In another instance organized labor and the local compliance board are definitely at odds.

Employes of a factory in a middle western town struck against pay and working conditions. Officials of the union dipped into the matter. They said they found conditions in the factory sanitary and otherwise, pretty awful. They also reported the workers had been getting so little pay it would be a crime to touch them for union dues.

Union organizers were told not to take a nickel but to stand by for all the aid and comfort possible.

The chairman of the compliance board made an inspection of the factory.

She—the chairman being a woman—gave the plant a complete bill of health and called on public opinion to force the men back to work.

Union leaders whisper the dame chairman is the wife of a man who is financially interested in the disputed factory.

Eastman

Behind newspaper print Railroad Administrator Joseph B. Eastman finds himself stumped.

Appointed to office originally for the purpose of effecting economies and consolidations in railroad operation, Eastman soon found that the very law creating his job prevented any new dealing.

The clause making it mandatory that the carriers shall not reduce their personnel below May 1 is the stumbling block. The roads couldn't be consolidated and lines abandoned without laying men off.

So the rail boss is quietly busying himself with a survey to see what he could do if the law be changed. He is studying the possibilities of reforms in purchase of equipment, etc.

When congress comes back Eastman have a fat report for the [illegible] in drafting permanent railroad legislation.

Those at his elbow say Eastman will push for stiff changes in the law as it

Rails

Steel men are in a [illegible] over the coming sale of [illegible] tons of steel rail to the railroads as inspired by the government.

Rail now sells around $40 a ton. Administrator Eastman is the federal go-between. Some steel men he thought $35 would be nicely but hoped it would be still.

The price is to be set by competitive bid.

Eastman warned against any collusion.

Then he let out that the new price quoted was to be the last for all concerned.

Maybe there'll be no [illegible] but if there isn't [illegible] has taken an upward turn.

Biff

The Khaki Shirts got a biff in the District line the other day when they advanced on the capitol to make a dictator of F. D. R. It was slightly different from the reception of the famous first [illegible] army.

The outfit was [illegible] taken to specially [illegible] and otherwise pampered for weeks.

This was under the gentle regime of General Pelham Glassford as Washington's chief of police.

Seemingly Inspector Burke, head of the detective bureau, who handled the recent crisis, has more of the old school in him.

Local reporters were extremely charitable in their accounts of what took place when the potential Fascists attempted to invade Washington. In their favor it must be recorded that newspapers can't print all the blue and chilly language that sparked at the district line.

Inspector Burke met this Mexican army, all of them officers, and said in effect: "Listen you birds. The Philadelphia police landed your headquarters and found a couple dozen guns, to say nothing of blackjacks, razors and other little things. The city of Washington will have no traffic with a bunch like you. Now get the hell out!"

The Khaki Shirts gave the inspector a Fascist salute, tumbled into their trucks and highballed back in the direction of Baltimore.

Notes

A. F. of L. officials have actual pay envelopes in their possession as proof of code chiseling. Some of them contained $7 and $8 for working weeks ranging from 48 to 54 hours. Emil E. Hurja, administrative assistant in public works, is an authority on Andrew Jackson. He has in his possession a number of as yet unpublished manuscripts concerning this figure of history. Marquis James, the biographer, is haunting Hurja's office these days while compiling a new tome on Jackson. Attorney General Cummings thought he hit on a swell plan to bottle up the country's most desperate gangsters by sending them to Alcatraz prison. San Franciscoans don't agree with him, fearing that the entourages of these hoodlums will make headquarters in their city. "Why not put them out in Santa Barbara channel with the wild goats?" they ask.

BL RICHARD WALDO

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—Men who are gradually taking over affairs—those in the late thirties and early forties—expect to see Fascism and Communism at death-grips in their time of authority.

The best informed are predicting open war by Japan on Soviet Russia and Soviet China within the next few months. Manchukuo will be used as the operating front. That flat nation has few treaties and no history to cramp the plans of military leaders. Japan will provide the leaders. The plans have long been set.

The principles of Fascism are native to the Nipponese. The emperor has more power to bestow on the man of the hour that Victor Emmanuel could give Mussolini or Hindenburg transfer to Hitler.

Nazi leaders—military and industrialist—understand this well. No westerners do better in the Orient than the Germans. They click there.

Promoting the Japanese attack on Soviet Asia is a patriotic duty and a profit making business for the Nazis. The supplying of war materials is a lusty trade now. The pistols under an iron peace make [illegible] of western boycotts the [illegible] of a wooden sword. And in [illegible] ways is seen the first step [illegible] forming an anti-Soviet front [illegible].

[illegible] intends to organize that [illegible].

Mails

[illegible] from the League and [illegible] on a haughty basis may [illegible] German business [illegible].

[illegible] slipping is a fine art in [illegible] the same has rules. [illegible] advertisers' letters in [illegible] one of these. All [illegible] has been gathered to [illegible] done on a well-[illegible] and one in Germany. [illegible] secret to those concerned.

Several firms in Denmark found that mail from Warsaw three days [illegible] this a year ago. Metal [illegible] letters showed rust [illegible] on the paper—an almost certain sign of steam having been applied. Further tests showed two layers of gum on flaps of envelopes passing through the German post-office. There was but one layer where other routes were used.

A far-flung investigation followed. The proof of indefensible espionage was about to be presented to the League of Nations when—

Jobs

Applicants for work in England are being sent by the labor exchanges to the arsenals. Munitions work for the unemployed is one solution for a grave problem. Figures show it is working out well. But to have it developed while the disarmament conference was sitting suggests the right hand may not know what the left is at.

But our well informed bankers doubt that.

The Imperial Chemical Industries of Britain have also been a help to the jobless.

They have been advertising for a research physiologist. The only applicants to be given serious consideration have all been experts in respiratory physics. They are the boys who know how to check up on the effects of poison gasses on the breathing processes.

Inside

Returning to the American scene:

If you want to get a contract for supplies to be sold to the post-office department New York politicians will tell you how to do it. Take a trip here and call on Mr. Finnegan. He's the big-timer in the general builders supply outfit. He is also Postmaster General Farley's brother-in-law.

The P. G. formerly had the Finnegan job.

Crowded

Millions to be made in liquor!

That's what the clever guys tell the bankers. Then they want to borrow money to prove it. An amazing number of folks seek to cash in on repeal.

But the bankers tell the applicants to choose a less crowded field.

Daily Guide To Health
Aid to War on Disease.

There is no one of us but [illegible] his body is equipped with [illegible] glands and organs. Yet the [illegible] importance of certain [illegible] known as the ductless glands [illegible] realized by only a few.

There are several ductless [illegible] but the most important are [illegible] "pituitary," the "adrenals," [illegible] "thyroid," and the "parathyroid" glands. Nothing is more fascinating in medicine than the study of these structures. They have to do with numerous functions and control various organs of the body. When diseased, they cause strange alterations in the operation of the human machine.

It is probable that the pituitary gland is the most interesting of them all. Within recent years it has received considerable attention in the medical world. Great strides have been made in our knowledge of it and what it means to us. When I was a medical student little was known about the pituitary gland or any other of the ductless glands. But now the scientific world is alert to the part they play in our well-being.

The pituitary gland is a reddish-gray oval mass about the size of a hazel nut. It lies in a bony case at the base of the brain. It is believed that its secretions control the other ductless glands. In this respect it is the commanding general of the gland army. I am sure that at some time or other you have seen an individual who suffered from failure of function of the pituitary although you may not have realized that this was the cause. Most of the so-called "freaks" in the circus are sufferers from pituitary disturbances. For example, the giant has become big because of a disease called "acromegaly" which is due to a disturbance of the pituitary gland.

Where there is a lack of pituitary gland secretion, sometimes the deficiency can be made up by giving artificially manufactured extracts. Then again, when the pituitary gland manufactures too much fluid, extracts of the other glands may be given the sufferer to overcome this increased activity.

Tremendous advances have been made in the study of the ductless glands within the last decade. As I have said, many ailments which in former years were doomed to a hopeless outcome, are now curable. By means of special tests, X-ray examinations and other devices of modern science, it is possible to determine accurately which gland is the cause of the disorder. Then there will be found a means to correct the trouble.

It is hoped that as research work continues, wider knowledge will be contributed to this comparatively new branch of medicine. It is a fascinating study and promises to result in great benefit to mankind.

Modern Plant Supplies Every Need in Laundry and Dry-Cleaning Service.

The Anthony Laundry company is one of Marion's old and well established businesses. The plant is located at 194-196 East Center street where, any week day, interested persons may see this modern laundry in action. It was established in 1889 by J. C. Anthony and has given the housewives of Marion 44 years of faithful and up-to-date service.

F. Ray Geer is now president of the company and manager of the dry cleaning and rug cleaning departments.

E. J. Schoenlaub is secretary and treasurer of the company and manager of the laundry. There are 31 employes, 19 women and 12 men and five trucks cover the city offering quick call and deliver service.

Both Mr. Geer and Mr. Schoenlaub are well known in Marion and they as well as their business are always loyal supporters of any civic project.

In National Organization.

The company maintains active memberships in both the "National Association of Laundry Owners" and "National Association of Dyers and Cleaners." These connections keep them in step with the advances in their business throughout the country and give them the information gained from study in the laboratories they maintain as to the treatment of new fabrics that are constantly being manufactured and the most satisfactory way of handling them.

To the average person the laundry still means tubs, washboards and strong chemicals. But one visit to the Anthony Laundry company's modern plant entirely changes this idea.

Outstanding improvements in the laundry industry are the use of soft water, wet washing, washing machines, improved air drying equipment, automatic pressing machines and the multiple suds washing process.

Soft water at Anthony's means water softened and filtered until by actual test it is purer and softer than rain water. This is accomplished by pumping well water through large gravel filters and mineral type softeners until by soap test it is absolutely at zero hardness. This makes an ideal water for washing clothes.

The washing formula used at Anthony's has been developed by the research department of the National Laundry Owners association and the Procter & Gamble company. The advantages of this washing formula is that three separate baths of pure Ivory soap are given to each load of clothes instead of one suds of a stronger soap. Then each load is given from four to six rinses and each rinse is drained to the sewer. Soft water is used in all rinsing. Clothes rinsed in hard water are not rinsed at all because the hard salts in the water simply kill the suds and form line soap deposits in the cloth itself which can not be rinsed out. From 20,000 to 30,000 gallons of soft water are used at Anthony's daily.

The company operates modern well equipped dry cleaning and rug cleaning departments as separate units.

In the dry cleaning department Stoddard Solvent is used to clean all garments. This is a special naphtha product which is sold only to dry cleaners and is refined by a company which specializes in the production of cleaning solvents. Finishing equipment such as steam presses, cool air dryers, hat blocking and a velvet steaming is all modern and operated by experienced and skilled workmen.

Silks, woolens, furs, velvets, hats, curtains and drapes are handled with care. Minor repairs and replacing buttons are a part of the regular cleaning service.

Rugs cleaned at Anthony's are really cleaned from the warp to the top of the nap. A rug to be cleaned is first dusted in a machine which vacuums, beats and brushes up the nap in one operation. The rug is then scoured with pure Ivory soap, vacuumed again, rinsed with soft water and dryed in a warm air dry room. This process protects sizing.

Whether it be old-fashioned ingrain carpet or fine orientals, Anthony's can take care of floor coverings.

Laundry Industry Gives Support to "New Deal"

A new social and economic order is in the making. The process of change is of serious importance to every laundryowner and others interested in the progress of the laundry industry.

The underlying idea of the "New Deal" is to make available to the average family more of the comforts and necessities of life. To the extent it succeeds, laundryowners will find a larger market for laundry service. (Likewise, dry cleaners for cleaning service.)

Prices of most commodities had fallen to or below the cost of production. Accumulated stocks had gradually been used up. Business almost stopped during February and March, now called the "bank holidays." Since then an abrupt rise in prices has taken place. The price of raw materials has increased. People are going back to work. Business is off of dead center. Every sign indicates a definite and marked improvement in practically every line of business. The President is demonstrating the will to win.

The purpose of the industry control measure is to increase wages and put more people back to work and to set higher standards. The labor sweat-shop must go. So it seems that optimism as to the future is not stimulated so much by the sudden and heartening upturn of business as by the determination of the administration to build a better order. There is a willing and eager response of industrial leaders and business men generally to support the socially-minded policies of the powers in Washington.

The deadly weapons of the old competitive days—of the dog-eat-dog type—are to be thrown aside. This kind of competition finally threatened the lives of business men. The game is now to be conducted under rules that will ensure fair play to all. Dishonor will come to those who disobey the rules.—The I. N. A. Record.

LAUNDERED SHIRTS GIVE LONG SERVICE

Arguing that seeing's believing, the men's furnishing department in Hink's, Berkeley, California, goes to special lengths to feature the non-shrinkability of their leading line of shirts in a way that really carries conviction. The manufacturers of these shirts provide laundries with a stuffer that stresses this special point, so Paul G. Lindstrom, buyer, saw to it that those distributed by the leading laundry in Berkeley would have a special tie-up with the shirts sold in his own department. Accordingly, they have printed on the bottom of these stuffers that Hinks have a display of these shirts that have been laundered by them 26 times. In the department a show case near the front shows two shirts, a brand new one and one laundered twenty-six times, both extended flat against the back of the case, one a bit above the other. Tape measures are extended along the sleeves and backs of each in a way that demonstrates that they have not shrunk an inch. Three laundered shirts and three brand new ones are shown footed in the foreground.—From Men's Wear.

SEE LIKELY PICKUP IN HOME BUILDING

Recent Favorable Sign May Indicate Revival Soon, Is Belief.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Oct. 21—The motor industry of building homes has shown a faint quiver in recent months which some analysts say may well blossom into a full fledged upswing by early next year.

Residential quarters constructed in 1932 represented little more than 60,000 family units, and this year's volume will about approximate that. This is in contrast with an estimated annual requirement of about 225,000 units, according to a survey by the Fitch Publishing Co.

This deficiency has been met by doubling up of families and in migration from urban to rural areas, but business analysts feel that any steady increase in employment, such as has been witnessed in recent months, may quickly result in a brisk demand for homes once more.

Residential building began to slacken as far back as the latter months of 1928, and even in 1929, when other lines were booming there was much discussion of means to make credit cheaper to stimulate building. As the situation grew worse, this finally gave way to plans of helping the owners of homes already built from losing their property through inability to manage their mortgages.

With liquid capital piling up in banks and earning very low rates of interest, and mortgages based upon present lowered building costs and deflated values considered good risks, it is felt that the prospective home builder should soon have little difficulty in financing. Money for speculative large scale building projects, however, may be slower in appearing.

FREIGHT LOADINGS

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—Revenue freight handled by the New York, Chicago & St. Louis in the week ended Oct. 14 increased 2.3 per cent over those in the similar week of 1932. In the preceding week cars handled increased 13.3 per cent over the like week last year.

CUT-RATE CLEANING WORK IS COSTLY

Here is a recently published report from Walter Winchell:

"This actually happened on the Paramount lot. An economist ordered the wardrobe department to patronize a new cleaner, who had underbid the regular cleaning agent 50 per cent. After a day's work, a satin gown worn by a star had to be renovated, and it was sent to the old cleaner.

"The following morning it came back cleaned but six inches short and two sizes all over. 'Look at that thing,' she yelped. All remaining sequences of the flicker required that the star wear the same frock. So what happened? So the production was held up while an exact duplicate of the dress was made. With all hands [illegible] Cost, $4,000."

Just Things

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

Dramas

THERE are folks who predict a nice warm welcome for the heart-rending, fight-stirring dramas of the "father if Annie leaves this house tonight, I go too," type, providing some good angel wants to let loose of a flock of chuckels to promote them. Just ponder on the possibilities of "No Mother to Guide Her." The scene opens in the home of Rose Day. And just imagine trying to keep calm and undisturbed over such scenes as the secret marriage, the murder, the gypsy camp, wedding by moonlight, a fight, the old hut in the mountains, blood hounds, lost in the mountains, the return of Jake, the arrest of Mother Targer and last but far from least, the wages of sin.

Pilfering

GOING to the grocery store these days fails far short in the thrills that it used to have in the good old days when the grocery man often had to trust to your honesty while he went to the back shed after the gallon of coal oil or quart of vinegar. Of course you didn't always get the cracker crumbs all off your face or the lid back on the pickle barrel on just as straight as it was before to get back, but practice made perfect and it was a poor pilferer that didn't get the grocer's absence timed about perfect after a few trips. And then, if you took a pail, well, the works was just a crutch.

As a companion piece there was the chopping bowl, lifted from its low-brow sphere to a place of elegance by the deft hand of someone who thought up the idea of painting winter woods scene on its innerds.

Homemaker's Question Box

Question—What are the different classes of soup?

Answer—We have two kinds of soup—those which have meat stock for the base and those made without meat stock. The soups with stock are classified by the National Live Stock and Meat board as follows:

Bouillon. This is always served clear and is made from lean beef with no fat or bones. It is delicately seasoned with spices, herb, and vegetables.

Brown soup stock. Made from beef. The proportion to use is two-thirds lean beef and one-third fat and bone. It is highly seasoned with vegetables and herbs.

White soup stock. This is a stock made from veal or chicken and it is delicately seasoned.

Consomme. This is usually made from a combination of two or three kinds of meat—beef and veal and fowl. It is seasoned with vegetables, spices and herb. Consomme is always served clear.

Lamb or mutton stock. Both the meat and bone are used but most of the fat is not used. It is seasoned delicately.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

About Robert

"GOLLY!" said Caroline to herself. If she hadn't been so tired, it would have said itself out loud. Was it possible that Robert had an ulterior object?

Caroline dwelt with joy on Robert under the influence of a tender passion, of Robert pursuing a courtship, of Robert proposing and being accepted. She forgot that she was going to sit on a bottom step and let the world go by. Her eyes sparkled. She swooped down upon the hearth-rug beside Patsy.

"Patsy Ann—what have you been up to? What has Robert been up to? How could you be so indiscreet as to have him to lunch in the absence of your chaperon? A gay young man like that! Tell your Aunt Caroline all!"

Patsy began to cry. Her face worked. Tears came rolling down her cheek. She sniffed loudly between angry sobs.

"You've never done him justice! I've had to put up with your making fun of him always! I didn't say anything—because it wouldn't have been any use saying anything! You only think about your own affairs—you don't confide in me—you never have! I'm sure if you'd been engaged to Jim, you couldn't have shut me up more—when I asked the simplest and most natural questions—though if I'd chosen—"

She stopped and dabbed her eyes with the blue velvet. She was not quite prepared to claim Jim as a lover. She plunged hastily back into the original grievance. "You always make fun of Robert! If you were older, you'd appreciate him as I do. He has a very high sense of duty and a pure Roman nose. It isn't you he wants to marry, so it doesn't matter what you think of him!"

Caroline was appalled.

"Patsy darling—don't. I never, never meant to hurt your feelings. Darling you know how one laughs at all sorts of things one respects most frightfully—like bishops—and the bank of England—and—and parliament."

"Robert isn't an—institution!"

That was exactly what he was. But never again must Caroline say so. She hugged the weeping Patsy.

"Darling, I respect him most frightfully. He's as safe as the bank of England and as good as a bishop. Are you going to marry him? Has he asked you? Have you said yes? Here's my hanky—you're simply ruining that blue velvet."

Patsy blew her nose as the proffered handkerchief.

"There's nothing settled," she said in a muffled voice—"nothing at all. Only he said—he did say—his mother thought—he ought to marry. He's such a good son—and he said he would like to please her—and did I think it was too old—and when I said no, it was just the prime of life, he said he was very glad I thought so—because he valued my opinion very much. He said that twice—and then he asked me—whether I had any views about cousins marrying and I said I didn't think it mattered so long as they weren't very near."

• • •

"DARLING! That was practically a proposal!"

Patsy gave a final sob.

"I—thought—it was—because he got up and looked out of the window and then he said, 'Your great-grandfather was second cousin once removed to my grandfather. And then he said he must be going—and then—just at the end—he pressed my hand—and said, 'You will hear from me in confirmation of this interview.'"

Caroline sprang up hastily. If she laughed, Patsy would never forgive her. She went quickly towards the stair, saying.

"I'll just take my things off and come down again."

"You do think he meant something?"

"It sounds like it." Caroline was gathering up her bag and gloves. "Of course he said he'd come down to ask us about Jim."

With her foot on the bottom step Caroline stood rigid. What had Robert Arbuthnot wanted to find out? She made an effort and said.

"About Jim?"

"Yes. Some one has told him about that broadcast, but they'd forgotten the name of the hospital. He wanted to know whether we had any reason to suppose that Jim was on the Alice Arden."

"And you said?"

"I said you thought he might have been. I told him it was the Elston cottage hospital, and that you had been over and found the man wasn't Jim. I told him the name wasn't Randal at all—it was a man called Riddell and his wife had taken him away."

"He was quite satisfied?"

"He went on asking questions. He's so thorough. I think it's wonderful to be so thorough and conscientious."

Caroline leaned on the old oak balustrade. The cottage had been there for 300 years, and for 300 years the hands of men, and women, and little children had been rubbing the balister smooth. Caroline's hands slipped on it now. She came down a step and stood against the newel. What sort of questions had Robert been asking, and what sort of answers had Patsy given him?

"What did he want to know?" she said.

"When you heard from Jim last—and what his plans were—and whether we'd seen him since he landed . . . Oh, and most particularly, whether we'd heard from him, or about him since the wreck of the Alice Arden. And of course I said no, we hadn't. And then he said a most awfully curious thing."

• • •

"WHAT did he say,"

"It wasn't so much what he said as the way he said it. He coughed and cleared his throat, and poked the fire, and then he asked me whether we'd heard any rumors. What do you suppose he meant?"

"Well I hadn't heard anything really so I said I never listened to gossip. And he said, 'Quite right—quite right,' and blew his nose and wouldn't say anything more except vague things like not getting drawn into any scandal, and remembering that we were two women living alone."

"And of course, after saying that about not listening to gossip I didn't like to ask what he meant—he mightn't have thought it quite nice of me. You know he thinks women ought to be protected from contact with the seamier side of life. He said so at lunch. He said their place was the home and that a really nice woman didn't ask for higher or wider sphere. He said—"

"Why?"

"That's the sort of woman he admires."

"I don't mean that. Why did he say all that about a scandal?"

"I don't know. It sounded as if he—it sounded as if Jim—"

Caroline clasped her hands.

"Patsy Ann!"

"Well it did sound like that, and of course when Mrs. Smith was scribbling on the hotel pad she did—it was when she was talking to the sister-in-law and got—I mean mind it Patsy—it was Jim's name."

"Well—and then?"

"You know how [illegible] I would [illegible] can't help listening [illegible] there is [illegible] Jim and Mrs. [illegible] town, a big [illegible] pause.)

Caroline did not [illegible] she looked [illegible] Patsy's [illegible].

"It's no use of your [illegible] at me like that. And [illegible] let me finish. Mrs. Van Berg thought Jim [illegible] perhaps [illegible] Jim liked, and [illegible] don't mind. Ever Mr. Smith [illegible] mind her having [illegible]."

"What did she mind?" said Caroline in a dull, hard voice.

"Well, it isn't [illegible] now," said Patsy.

"Why should it be?"

"It isn't. But it was—it was there the very day Mr. Van Berg was shot, and it's never been there since—and, as Mrs. Smith says, things like that are bound to make people talk."

Caroline turned round and went up the stair. Her door [illegible] sharply.

WHEAT PRODUCTION AND ACREAGE STATEMENTS OF MEMBERS OF THE
WHEAT PRODUCTION CONTROL ASSOCIATION OF MARION COUNTY, STATE OF OHIO.

The following is a statement of the production and planted acreages of wheat in 1931 1931 and 1932 and plans for 1933 of producers of Marion county who have submitted applications for farm adjustments. This list which is made in compliance with the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. It is made so that check may be made on all statement claims, and so that refunds may be made to the County Wheat Production Control Association in all discrepancies which may appear in the statements.

The allotment for this county has been determined on figures from official records of the United States Department of Agriculture and private reports. This is the total allotment for the county. Therefore if any farmer produces more wheat than his allotment production warrants he must take it from the allotment of other farmers in this county of their part share.

Total production figures of those who apply for allotments, together with those who do not, must be consistent with the official county figures as shown by the records of the United States Department of Agriculture. If the county totals are greater than the official totals it will be necessary to make a downward adjustment.

Any person may make a confidential report if he finds any statement here which he believes to be inaccurate. Such reports should be made to the community or county Adjustment Committee either in writing or verbally on or before Saturday Oct 28th. The reports will be strictly confidential. A farmer whose statements are said to be inaccurate will need to prove his production figures. The yearly production figures on the seeded acres should not be too far out of line with the county averages which are as follows:

The county wheat average per acre for 1930 is 15.8 bu.
For 1931 is 21 bu.
For 1932 is 20.7 bu.
For this 3 year base period 21.6 bu.

Farmers have been asked to furnish evidence of production and evidence of sale, such as thresherman's certificates, elevator receipts, other records and receipts. Satisfactory evidence will be required if the statement is questioned.

The following statements have been prepared in two parts. "A" represents acres seeded and "bu." represents bushels produced. The "3-year average" represents the 3-year average acreage and production of 1930-32. Farmers should refer any questions regarding this publication to their Community Committee or the County Allotment Committee or to Wheat Adjustment Office, 120 E. Center St., Marion, Ohio. Football packs its biggest punch for Ohio today.

With Ohio State's Scarlet and Gray warriors tangling lustily in combat against Michigan in what may be a decisive game in the Western conference, with the Army-Navy encounter at Cleveland providing an intersection aspect to the program, the remaining warfare includes at least two vital games for Ohio elevens.

The championship hope of Miami, defending its Buckeye A. A. title against a strong Ohio U. team at Athens, are at stake. The meeting of Baldwin-Wallace and Case at Cleveland has an important bearing on the Ohio conference outcome.

Last night the big gridiron weekend was ushered in with Xavier's valiant stand against Washington and Jefferson, the latter winning 8 to 0, a scoreless deadlock between Ashland and Kent State, Dayton's triumph over Findlay, 13 to 12; Bluffton's 12 to 0 victory over Defiance and Muskingum's conquest of Heidelberg, 12 to 6.

Ohio conference games today include Denison at Otterbein, Hiram at Capital, Toledo at Kenyon, Marietta at Oberlin, Wooster at Akron, and Bowling Green at Ohio Northern. Ohio Wesleyan meets Wittenberg at Springfield for a Buckeye association contest, and another Buckeye battle will be played tonight when Marshall invades the University of Cincinnati.

John Marshall was paired with Ferris Institute at Big Rapids, Mich., Rio Grande at West Liberty, and Wilberforce was in Chicago for a game with Tuskegee.

250,000 Fans Expected at Big 10 Tilts Today

Ohio and Michigan in Spotlight with Conference Title in Sight for Winner.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Oct. 21—The big [illegible] so far of the gridiron [illegible] power radiating from the ranks of the Big Ten featured today's far-flung college football melee.

The half dozen games involving all the members of the Western conference figured to draw close to 250,000 spectators, of whom it was anticipated 85,000 would turn out for the battle of Giants, Michigan and Ohio State, at Ann Arbor.

Fans and experts alike predicted the ultimate winner of the 1933 championship would emerge from the battle of the Buckeyes and Wolverines in the arena at Ann Arbor, but they couldn't agree on which to name. Michigan might be favored if there was anything to the advantage of home ground, but the recent records for this rivalry prove there isn't.

Records at Stake

Meanwhile the east sent two of its strongest unbeaten elevens, Pittsburgh's golden Panthers and Army's fleet Cadets, into the powerhouse district. Pitt was the favorite to beat Minnesota's rapidly developing outfit at Minneapolis, but Army was conceded but an even chance to overcome Illinois in [illegible] municipal stadium.

[illegible] at Iowa City, [illegible] at Stagg field and [illegible] at Evanston [illegible] Big Ten state, with [illegible] pronounced favorite [illegible] conference duels.

The [illegible] featured five engagements [illegible] together unbeaten against a list of eight head [illegible].

Crowds of [illegible],000 were expected for [illegible] as Notre Dame-Carnegie at Pittsburgh, Columbia-Princeton at Princeton, Syracuse-Cornell at Ithaca, Dartmouth-Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Colgate-New York university at the Yankee stadium, Boston College-Fordham at the Polo grounds, Holy Cross-Harvard at Cambridge and Brown-Yale at New Haven.

The season's first major test for Princeton's rejuvenated Tigers attracted unusual interest although the odds in their favor hardly seemed justified by the defensive qualities of the Lions-Columbians.

Other Favorites

Fordham, Dartmouth, Army and Holy Cross apparently were regarded as the best winning combinations in the other games involving undefeated rivals but all such predictions were guesswork due to the lack of sufficient early season evidence on what these teams can do under heavy fire.

Pittsburgh fans had a special interest in observing what Notre Dame showed against Carnegie not alone for the sake of this particular rivalry but because next week the Pitt Panthers invade South Bend.

The so-called crucial engagements were limited elsewhere in the grid iron whirl. The Kansas State-Nebraska game decided the Big Six leadership, at least for the time being. Among a flock of Dixie skirmishes, Alabama's tussle with Tennessee at Knoxville headlined the Southeastern conference slate.

TYGERS CHALLENGE

Mansfield Offers To Meet Leading Team in Ohio In Postseason Game.

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 21—The Mansfield High school football team, undefeated since 1928, has challenged the five leading Ohio scholastic elevens.

Those offered a game, which would be played Nov. 25 or Dec. 2, are Canton McKinley, Steubenville Wells, Springfield, Dover and Toledo Waite. The challenge is to the team with the best record. If Mansfield wins its four remaining games this season.

It was provided that the state athletic association must give its sanction.

CRESTLINE BEATEN BY CAREY ELEVEN

Carey High school retained its first place tie with Tiffin Calvert yesterday in the League of Six Nations by taking a 19-0 victory from Crestline. Crestline never seriously threatened to score and Carey had little difficulty in running up the victory.

Smiley, Myers and Jesco scored the three Carey touchdowns and Mulholland booted the only extra point.

PITT RISKS HOPES AGAINST GOPHERS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 21—Pittsburgh's national championship aspirations met the challenge of Big Ten football in its game with Minnesota at Memorial stadium today.

Already boasting three triumphs, the easterners took the field slight favorites over the Gophers, whose record is marred by successive ties with Indiana and Purdue.

A meteorological station to study winter storms and winds has been established on top of Mount Washington, N. H., said to be the windiest spot in the United States, by the New Hampshire Academy of Sciences.

GRUBAUGH DASHES 80 YARDS FOR SCORE AS GALION WINS, 20-19

Mansfield Madison Squeezed Out in Exciting Nocturnal Conflict.

Special to The Star

MANSFIELD, Oct. 21 — Charlie Grubaugh, sensational Galion halfback, pulled another game out of the fire for the Orangemen last night as he intercepted a Mansfield Madison forward pass and dashed 80 yards to a touchdown. The touchdown gave Galion a 20-19 victory over the class B foe. Madison had been leading Galion 19-13 before Grubaugh turned in his flashy jaunt. The game was one of the most spectacular seen in the Mansfield vicinity this season, Madison putting up a terrific battle against the North Central Ohio league entry.

Madison trailed Galion 14-7 at the half but came back with a rush in the second half and scored two touchdowns to pile up what looked like a safe lead.

ILLINOIS AND ARMY MEET IN CLEVELAND

Cadets Depend on Deception To Halt Powerful Midwest Attack.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND O., Oct. 21 — A crack University of Illinois football team bristling from a 21 to 0 triumph over Wisconsin a week ago, today attempts to overthrow the perennially powerful Army, in an intersectional contest on the neutral ground of Municipal stadium.

An attendance of nearly 30,000 assured by advance sales.

The Illini faced the battle with confidence inspired by their previous showings this season. Army's 1933 squad has not yet been tested against a foe of major calibre.

Although there is no Red Grange to gallop for Illinois or a Chris Cagle to lead the Cadets' attack, the eyes of the spectators turned to young Les Lindberg—the "Flying Lindbergh" as he has been dubbed—to wonder how he would look against Army. And for the Cadets Davis Jack Buckler appeared a likely candidate for honors.

Army places its emphasis on the aerial game [illegible] from the Warner system with either single or double wing back and depends on deception to overcome the weight advantage held by Illinois.

NEW SOUTHWEST FLASH

Razorback Makes Dazzling Runs

By The Associated Press

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—Reeling off a series of long runs for touchdowns this season two of them against Texas Christian University, Ralph LaForge, 145-pound halfback of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, has become the most feared scoring threat in the Southwest conference.

Playing his second year LaForge in the opening game this season against College of the Ozarks ran 68 yards from scrimmage for a touchdown and a week later against Oklahoma Baptist University ripped off 60 yards for another touchdown.

Against Texas Christian, LaForge took the opening kickoff and raced 90 yards untouched for the Porkers' first touchdown in their campaign for the conference title. Later in that same game LaForge on a cutback sidestepped his way 35 yards through the secondary to complete the rout of the Frogs.

His total points in the Porkers' first three games was 25, which placed him near Freeboy Dominigue, Texas A & M halfback and Bohn Hilliard, flashy Texas University halfback, for the conference scoring leadership.

HARDING, FINDLAY IN GRID BATTLE TODAY

Harding High school will add its bit to the heavy schedule of scholastic and collegiate football games today with an invasion of Findlay for the annual renewal of relations with Findlay High school. Neither team is given much of an advantage in pre-game dope. Two games are on the schedule the first between the reserve teams at 1 p. m., and the second at 2:30 between the varsity elevens.

Jack Cheadle's band of red and black clad gridders take the field against the Hancock county team in the best physical condition of any time since the opening game, only one or two members of the squad being bothered with injuries.

Harding will be trying for the first victory over the upstaters since 1929, Findlay having romped off with three straight victories.

Marksmen To Meet.

There will be a meeting of the Marion Revolver association Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. on the police station range for the purpose of organizing for the coming indoor target shooting season. All interested shooters are urged to attend.

LA RUE SHOVED FROM CREST OF LEAGUE BY LOSING TO FOREST

Fumbled Punt in Fourth Period Costs Game, 6-0; Richwood Loses.

Hopes of LaRue High [illegible] a championship in the Heart [illegible] Ohio football league were [illegible]tically ruined yesterday as [illegible] High school registered [illegible] triumph over the Marion [illegible] team. The victory boosted [illegible] into first place in the title [illegible] with two victories and no defeats and ousted LaRue from the [illegible]nacle.

A fumbled punt in the [illegible] quarter paved the way for the defeat of LaRue. After battling through the first three [illegible] with neither team being able to cross the final chalk mark, LaRue fumbled a punt on its own [illegible] yard line and Forest recovered. A pair of smashes at the line [illegible] hurled back by a fighting LaRue line but on the next play Fisher faded back and shot a pass to Switzer for a touchdown. The try for point failed but the touchdown was enough to give the game to Forest.

Forest held the edge over LaRue in first downs collecting five against two for the losers.

The lineups:

Richwood Loses to Ohio Deaf

A fourth period touchdown by the Ohio School for the Deaf upset the Richwood High school eleven yesterday on the Richwood field and gave the Columbus school a 12-7 victory. Richwood played its best game of the season in holding the capital citizens to the low score.

The Deaf team scored the first touchdown, battering its way the length of the field in the first period. The try for point failed. Richwood soon regained the lead by tossing a long forward pass for a touchdown and then adding the extra point.

The winners scored again in the fourth period and despite some valiant efforts, Richwood was unable to cross the goal line again. The winners ran up a total of 21 first downs to 11 for Richwood.

Drastic Changes Loom In Big Ten Before Next Year

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Oct. 21—Big Ten football may see some drastic changes before next season rolls around, so far as its rules and regulations are concerned.

A concerted movement is being launched among coaches, faculty advisers and alumni to attain two objectives:

1. A modified training table for football men.

2. More equality in time allowed for practice.

Whether they will be successful in either is problematical, for the Big Ten is notoriously conservative and slow to adopt any changes which might lead someone to feel that it was "emphasizing" football—Heaven forbid!

But there's going to be a real fight, and when the annual meetings are held here in December, plenty of words will be said pro and con regarding the two changes.

One of the leaders will be Noble Kizer, Purdue coach who is now also the athletic director at his school. As such, he will sit in council with the faculty advisers, who are the real rulers of the Big Ten. There have been other coaches in the past who combined their duties with that of athletic director, notably A. A. Stagg and Fielding Yost, but both were on the conservative side, while Kizer is a young firebrand, fighting for reforms he thinks are needed. He may get sat on, but he'll have his say.

Need Is Obvious

The need of some sort of training table is obvious to one acquainted with conference football. Bob Zuppke of Illinois is leading this fight. Prior to 1906 there was one, but it was eliminated in the wave of reform, which swept through football at the time and has never been restored.

Michigan quit the conference as a protest against the change, and stayed out until 1917.

In spite of the hooey about football players being "bought and paid for," a vast majority of the boys who play the game are sons of parents in moderate circumstances, and do various kinds of work to help pay their school expenses. During the football season—from September 15 to November 30—football men are handicapped in holding down jobs. They must practice until almost 6 p. m. Then they take a shower, dress and scurry off to wait on tables, wash dishes, shovel coal or do any of the many tasks which collegians find to pick up a few nickels.

Any coach will tell you that the boys don't eat the proper food nor even eat regularly during the season. They probably don't all year around either, but that's something else again. Anyhow, here's an example as told to us by Ossie Solem, Iowa coach.

"Last year one of the boys on the squad came to me and wanted to borrow a dollar. I asked him why and he told me he hadn't eaten for two days. I investigated and found it was true."

Other coaches will tell you many instances of boys fainting from lack of food, of others whose weight dropped for no apparent reason (except starvation), of stars whose pep faded away and numerous other similar cases.

Training Table Favored

Most coaches favor giving their teams one meal daily, after practice. It is possible that this might be put over in spite of the Big Ten objection to a training table—an inconsistent objection since schools which start practice before classes begin feed their squads three times a day.

The subject of equalizing practice comes up year after year, with nothing much done about it. All conference schools do not open at the same time, although practice begins on Sept. 15. This fall, for example, Indiana and Purdue started classes Sept. 13; Illinois on Sept. 20; Wisconsin on Sept. 23; Minnesota, Northwestern, Iowa and Michigan on Sept. 25, and Chicago and Ohio on Oct. 2.

A Big Ten rule limits practice to two hours after classes open. Thus, if Indiana and Ohio should meet on Oct. 7, the Hoosiers would enter the game with 19 sessions—38 hours—while Ohio would have had unlimited practice for the 19 days—ten hours a day if the coach so desired.

One group favors advancing the date for the opening of practice to the day after Labor Day, another feels that all schools should be limited to two hours a day. Other ideas also will be advanced. Something may come of it, and then again it may be sidetracked as in the past.

Changes in either rule will require a three-fourths vote of the faculty advisers, which means that about two negative votes will be enough to defeat them. The two "nays" probably will bob up, but it will be a good fight nevertheless.

Twins on Syracuse Eleven Keep Everybody Guessing

No wonder opponents of the Syracuse eleven think they are seeing double when they face the Singer twins. That's Walt on the left and Milt on the right. Beg pardon, it's the other way around. Nope, it's—well, anyhow, meet the Singer boys.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. The only way opponents of Syracuse university's football team are able to distinguish between Walt Singer, varsity end, and Milt Singer, varsity center, after the lineup spreads is to look into their mouths.

As the identical twins do very little mouth opening, there is bound to be confusion.

Each is six feet one inch in height and 195 pounds in weight. They part their hair the same way. Walt's teeth are different from Milt's, and that's Coach Vic Hanson's only clue to their respective identities.

TOOTS AND CASPER

BY JIMMY MURPHY

—AND BESIDES WHAT YOU FEED THIS BABY IS ALL WRONG, TOOTS!
BUT, AUNTY! WE DO EXACTLY WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS—
I DON'T CARE WHAT THE DOCTOR SAYS! NO, I HAVEN'T ANY CHILDREN, BUT I CAN USE GOOD, OLD-FASHIONED COMMON-SENSE! — AND YOU AND CASPER! IT'S A WONDER YOU'RE BOTH NOT SICK! YOU BOTH EAT TOO MANY STARCHY FOODS! WELL, I GIVE UP! IT'S YOUR STOMACH—NOT MINE—
I GUESS I'LL BE LEAVING YOU IN A FEW DAYS! THE RAINY SEASON IS BEGINNING AND I'M WORRIED ABOUT MY ROOF BACK HOME, WITH NO ONE THERE IN CASE IT SHOULD LEAK!
THAT'S RIGHT, AUNT BLIMPEY! A LITTLE LEAK MIGHT RUIN ALL OF YOUR NICE FURNISHINGS IF YOU WEREN'T THERE TO STOP IT!
CASPER, I'M SURPRISED AT YOU! YOUR FACE LIT UP LIKE A CHRISTMAS TREE WHEN AUNT BLIMPEY SAID SHE'S GOING SOON!
YES, AND NIX ON TELLING HER HOW MUCH WE'RE GOING TO MISS HER! SHE MIGHT CHANGE HER MIND! HOLD BACK THE TEARS UNTIL WE GET HER TO THE DEPOT, ANYWAY!
JIMMY MURPHY 10-21

THIMBLE THEATER

BY SEGAR

HE'S A MYSTERY TO ME — BETTER WAKE HIM UP
IMAGINE A STRANGER WALKIN' IN HERE AND GOING TO BED LIKE HE OWNED THE PLACE
OH, WELL, I'LL FIX SOME BREAKFAST FOR HIM AND THE BABY
WELL, I'LL BE—! I'LL BE—! WELL, I'LL BE—! MAW, COME HERE!
I DON'T MIND HIM STAYIN' ALL NIGHT UNINVITED AND MAKIN' HIMSELF TO HOME, BUT—
BUT WHEN HE WANTS HIS BREAKFAST IN BED — THAT'S TOO MUCH
BRING IT TO US

GLORYOSKY, DOES JOEY LIVE IN THAT GREAT, BIG HOUSE? IT'S AWFUL PRETTY — JUST LIKE A CASTLE WHERE KINGS AN' QUEENS LIVE!
HONEST, JOEY, IT MAKES ME GLAD ALL OVER — YOUR HAND IS NEARLY ALL WELL AN' YOU AIN'T SICK — AN' YOU DIDN'T FORGET ME — LIKE MR FENDER SAID YOU WOULD FORGET YOU? — DON'T BE RIDICULOUS — PEOPLE DON'T FORGET THEIR FRIENDS!

OUR YOUNGSTER SPENT FORTY DOLLARS FOR GOLF CLUBS FOR ME AND I'LL NEVER USE THEM! I'D LIKE TO EXCHANGE THEM FOR AN ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE, BUT I DON'T WANT TO HURT HIS FEELINGS AND I DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT
YOU'RE RIGHT — SARAH — BUT DON'T WORRY — I'LL TAKE CARE OF IT! IT TAKES A MAN TO TAKE CARE OF A SITUATION LIKE THIS
BE SURE AND DON'T HURT HIS FEELINGS
KEEP YOUR HEAD DOWN AN' YUH LET 'ARM STRAIGHT AN' FOLLOW THROUGH!

The Stars Say
For Sunday, Oct. 22

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE holds augurs of very lively and pleasant events on this day, with much of benefit for all affairs pertaining to church and the clergy as well as charity and good works. So all domestic and affectional relations should likewise prosper and bring happiness, but be on guard against the sinister and subtle, as well as loss by treachery or fraud.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a prosperous year in business with much progress and initiative, but be on guard against certain subtle and curious conditions, particularly in negotiations with strangers. Shun gambling and all hazards with funds.

A child born on this day may be energetic, capable and ambitious, but possibly in lines outside the ordinary.

Notable nativity: Constance Bennett, screen actress.

For Monday, Oct. 23

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL forecast is for a particularly stirring and eventful day with possible travel, changes of associations and interests, accompanied by progress and advancement both in employment and business, although there may be some slightly disagreeable situations to be dispersed.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the alert for fresh opportunities and affiliations both in business and employment. These may call for change, travel, removal and new associations, but should thrive and prove pleasant, despite an item of a disagreeable nature to be tactfully handled.

A child born on this day should be original, inventive, adventurous and should succeed in life, especially in employment of others.

Notable nativity: Sara Bernhardt, actress.

SHERIFF TO ENFORCE BUS TRAFFIC LAW

Gets Complaints That Motorists Fail To Stop for School Vehicles.

A campaign to break up the practice of motorists passing school busses parked along the highway to discharge or receive passengers was launched by Sheriff C. C. Fye yesterday after complaints from D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools, had come to him.

Three motorists charged with passing the Pleasant township bus at various stops along state route 23 yesterday afternoon were ordered by Sheriff Fye to appear in municipal court. A fourth motorist who sped away after passing the bus will be ordered into court after authorities learn his identity from his automobile license number.

Sheriff Fye said he plans to follow busses in different parts of the county and to bring all offenders into court in an effort to break up the apparent indifference of motorists to a state law forbidding them to pass a parked school bus.

Those ordered into court yesterday are T. M. Mangan of Summit street, Tharold Smale of Delaware and Adrian Weber of Zanesville.

Complaints from Supt. Mills were based on reports of school bus drivers, who had reported that many motorists were ignoring their obligation to stop.

GRAINS CLOSE WEEK STRONG

Optimism Over Speech by Roosevelt Has Bullish Effect.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 22—Grain prices in a strong upward course early today. Optimism regarding an address by President Roosevelt tonight a week has a decidedly stimulating effect. Opening 1 to 2 cents up, wheat afterward wavered a little and then rose higher than before, corn started at ¾@1¼ gain and continued to mount.

Wheat quickly scored 2½ cents advance, chiefly on account of general belief among traders that President Roosevelt would talk of agricultural conditions and also that he might give a more definite outline of the administration's monetary program. Notice was taken, too, of Liverpool dispatches saying United States farmers' strike news was attracting attention overseas and has contributed to price advances in Great Britain. On the other hand, cables reported cooler weather in Australia and rains in Argentina.

Selling pressure in wheat broadened later, and at one stage more than wiped out early gains. The increased selling was partly due to profit taking but was also attributed largely to sharp setbacks which were witnessed in securities. United States government purchasing of wheat today was chiefly apparent at around the start. Corn and oats displayed relative strength as compared with wheat. Weather conditions were unfavorable for corn movement.

Provisions averaged higher with grains and on possibilities of trade arrangement between United States and Russia.
